VOTE GERMANS AS DEFAULTING

British Member Casts Lone Ballot Against The Proposition

FRENCH TROOPS REACH KETTWIG

Advance of Soldiers Toward Ruhr Still Underway Today

(Associated Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 9.—The reparations committee today voted Germany in wilful default in her coal deliveries. The vote was three to one, Sir John Bradbury, the British member, casting the negative ballot.

Immediately after the reparations commission had declared Germany in default on coal deliveries, Premier Poincaré entered in communication with Premier Mussolini, of Italy and Premier Theunis, of Belgium. He will maintain contact with them throughout the action arranged in the Ruhr.

M. Poincaré, it is stated, also will inform the British government as soon as the orders are given for the actual occupation.

French, Belgian and Italian engineers are at Dusseldorf, it was said, ready to act on orders from Paris and it was no secret that they would be accompanied into the Ruhr valley by a sufficient guard to insure their safety.

ESSEN, Germany, Jan. 9.—Advance troops of the French army, largely with technical equipment, already have reached the neighboring town of Kettwig (seven miles southwest of Essen) and the section between Dusseldorf and Essen is half covered by French military forces, according to private advices reaching here today.

(Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—Thirty eight trains carrying French troops, left Mayence yesterday, with Essen as the destination of the forces, says an Essen telegram today.

The arrival of heavy artillery is reported from the neighborhood of Neuss.

DAUGHERTY GIVEN CLEAN HEALTH BILL

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Attorney General Daugherty was given a clean bill of health today by the house judiciary committee, which investigated impeachment charges brought against him by Representatives Keller, Republican, Minnesota.

Poole Completes Plans For Office

Sheriff-elect C. E. Poole has made every arrangement to take over the office of sheriff next Monday. He has spent some time recently about the office familiarizing himself with the duties, and has just recently received the books of record which will be used by him. The jailer secured by the sheriff, B. E. Isbell, of Falkville, will move into the jail residence within the next few days, and William Beasley, of Falkville, chief deputy, will be on hand at the opening day of court next Monday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Cotton ginned prior to January 1 amounted to 9,598,907 bales, the census bureau announced.

To January 1 last year ginnings totaled 7,882,356 running bales. Ginnings to January 1 in Alabama 816,236.

SIGHT MAY BE RESTORED BY PIG'S EYE

Eighteen-year-old Alfred Lemanowicz, of Lyndhurst, N. J., blinded nine years ago by a fireworks explosion, may have his sight restored through a unique operation to be performed by Dr. Edward A. Morgan, of Paterson, N. J. Dr. Morgan is to remove the sightless eye and replace it with an eye taken from a pig. A similar operation by the same surgeon proved successful. The boy, who is penniless, is attempting to earn enough money by playing the accordion to pay his hospital bills.

MERRILL ELECTED SPEAKER OF HOUSE

(Associated Press.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 9. Judge Hugh D. Merrill, of Calhoun County, was elected speaker of the house of representatives on the second ballot early this afternoon.

C. B. Verner, of Tuscaloosa, withdrew from the race in favor of Judge Merrill, pledging his support to the Calhoun representative.

(Associated Press.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 9.—The first action of the Alabama senate was to meet in caucus at 11 o'clock this morning and decide upon meeting and adjourning time for the first week of the legislature if the house of representatives concurs.

It was decided in caucus to meet today and tomorrow and adjourn until Monday afternoon, January 15, reassembling after the inauguration of Governor-elect W. W. Brandon when the big legislation of the session will begin.

If the house concurs in this suggestion of the senate it will be the plan followed.

Fox Creek Area Free From Stills

Deputies Sharpe and Wright made a trip to the Fox's Creek territory Monday to look after violations of the prohibition law in that territory. This is the section where the officers caught five stills in one day a few weeks ago. The officers report no sign of illicit distilling, in a territory that was alive with them some time past.

During one of the raids last spring, Sam Shephard, negro was apprehended at a still there, but escaped. Monday he drifted right into the clutches of the officers, and is being held in the Morgan County jail for Lawrence county officers.

Albany Council To Meet Tonight

The regular meeting of the Albany city council will be held tonight at the city hall. Aside from a discussion of the proposed bond issue for a small amount of sewer work in South Albany, nothing but the regular routine is expected to come up. The regular monthly bills will be read to the council for their approval or rejection. As attorney Hutson is in Montgomery, it is not expected that any definite action will be taken on the proposal for a small bond issue.

FINAL REPORTS TUESDAY NIGHT

Board of Directors To Meet Solicitors At Seven o'Clock

Final reports on the membership campaign of the Albany-Decatur Chamber of Commerce are expected tonight, when the solicitors and the board of directors of the Chamber meet in regular session at the Colonial building at 7 o'clock.

In addition to the names of individuals and of firms taking out memberships, as appearing in The Daily for two successive days, a number of additional names have been added to the long list.

Some of those who have observed the campaign, gave expression today of their attitude toward the Chamber, and as to its ultimate success as one of the factors in the up-building of the community.

Frank G. Cook: "We had decided not to put any more money into Chambers of Commerce, until we saw the vim and determination being put into the present united Chamber, then we joined. I think if we are ever going to succeed, now is the time."

Lamar Penny: "I am for the United Chamber of Commerce. I think we ought to be able to locate some additional industries. It looks like we ought to get some of the cotton mills that I see are coming South. And we ought to help locate Henry Ford at Muscle Shoals."

T. A. Bowles: "You know I am for it."

M. S. Bingham: "I am going to join. I got one of the cards; but I thought I had best wait until pay day."

J. P. Matlock: "The Albany-Decatur Chamber of Commerce has a great future. Just as each individual fully realizes his full responsibility. And I think we ought to give a larger financial support, as well as our moral support."

S. M. Thompson: "If we will co-operate properly the United Chamber will become our greatest one factor in our future growth and development. I am for it and I hope to see it prosperous."

S. H. Malone: "I notice my name has not appeared as a member. I sent in my name and was a little surprised to see it did not appear, as I have always been on of the original boosters of the United Chamber."

John D. Wyker, whose firm took memberships in Albany-Decatur Chamber said: "At the psychological moment, I'll be there."

Dr. James D. Wallace, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who is a member of the Chamber said: "It is the very thing. We have been needing it all along. It will help the people of both towns to get together and cooperate."

A. Z. Bailey said: "I have been putting money into Chambers of Commerce all these years. When I see that the Chamber is going squarely after results, I am going to be right in the midst."

Clyde Hendrix, whose banking business and whose associates are strong for the Chamber said, proposed a new slogan when seen this morning: "Bite off more than you can chew, then chew it; plan to do more than you can do, then do it. Hitch your wagon to a star, pull together and there you are!"

W. H. Aycock, stated he was a member of the Chamber and he was anxious for results. "I am for it and for anything for the good of the whole community."

J. R. Daniell: "Ever since I came here, I have felt that there should be a united unit."

Klan Officer Asks That Differences All Be Submerged

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—A message signed by J. K. Skipwith, grand cyclops of the invisible empire of the Ku Klux Klan in Morehouse parish, urging Klansmen to submerge their differences until "affairs in our ranks can be adjusted" was read at a meeting of the Brooklyn Klan last Friday night, according to The New York World today.

Skipwith's message, as published, follows: "All the boys are standing true and backing me in a fight to the finish. They urge me to yield not one whit to the insolent insinuations and slanderous charges of our common enemy. I am going to do the right as God gives me the vision of the right and in this should there be, for the present, no misunderstanding in our forces. Let those things remain without agitation for the present, until we have whipped in the fight against our common enemy. Then we can adjust affairs within our ranks."

At its meeting held in the director's room of the City National bank Saturday night, the New Morgan County Building and Loan Association heard a report for its Secretary-Treasurer, W. B. Shackelford, which showed the institution to be in a flourishing condition.

Following the report, the regular annual election of officers was held. J. W. Cunningham was elected President; Judge John C. Eyster, Vice President; W. B. Shackelford, Secretary-Treasurer; and Edwin Shackelford, Assistant Secretary.

The board of directors as elected is composed of the following: E. W. Godbey, J. C. Eyster, T. M. Dix, J. W. Wyker, A. D. Jervis, J. W. Cunningham, W. B. Shackelford, Charles Rountree, and J. H. Calvin. All the directors are the ones that have been serving for some years with the exception of J. H. Calvin, who was elected for the first time Saturday night.

Mrs. Mary Carlisle To Be Buried Here

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock for Mrs. Mary N. Carlisle, who died at Memphis, Tenn., yesterday morning. The body arrived here this morning at 2 o'clock and was conveyed to the residence of Mrs. Sheats, a granddaughter, 428 East Moulton street, where services will be conducted by Rev. W. P. Wilks, pastor of the Central Baptist church. Interment will be made here.

Mrs. Carlisle was 75 years of age and died at the Baptist Memorial hospital after an operation. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. Sallie Neill, of Memphis; Mrs. Virgil McAllister, of Caruthersville, Mo.; Mrs. Fedila Smith, of New Orleans; Mrs. Edna Earl Christie, of Dyersburg, Tenn.; Mrs. Maryetta Trader, of Birmingham; Mrs. Nannie Aurosa Simmons, of Memphis; John G. Carlisle, of St. Louis. The body was accompanied here by Mr. and Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Christie.

ROAD REPAIRED.

According to M. S. Bingham, county engineer for the board of revenue, which body has charge of the construction of the county roads and their upkeep, on Monday morning work was begun on the East Falkville pike. This road extends from Falkville to the Cold Spring neighborhood, about six miles east of Falkville.

WEATHER.

FOR ALABAMA—Fair tonight and Wednesday. Colder tonight.

INNER SECRETS OF KLAN BARED

Captain Skipworth Is Named As Leader In Morehouse

ELDER DANIEL ON THE STAND

Norscworth Was King In Parish, He Tells Attorney General

(Associated Press.)

BASTROP, La., Jan. 9.—J. T. Norscworth, who declared himself a charter member of the Morehouse parish organization of the Ku Klux Klan, asserted on the witness stand at the opening hearing today of the masked band depredations in Morehouse, that the black mask was used by members of the Morehouse Klan when they set on marauding raids at night.

"When the Klan went out on raiding trips they wore the black masks, but when they met in the lodge rooms they wore the white ones," Norscworth told Attorney General A. V. Coco, who was conducting the examination.

"Who was the leader of the Klan? The grand cyclops or whatever they call him," asked Mr. Coco.

"Captain Skipwith. We called him the president."

J. L. Daniel, father of Watt Daniel, hooded band victim, testified that he had learned that subsequent to the kidnapping of his son and Thomas F. Richards, whose mutilated bodies were recently found in Lake LaFayette, that four Mer Rouge citizens had been warned they would have to leave the community or "they would be killed."

Daniel said the information was given him by Joe Davenport, another Mer Rouge citizen. Davenport, Daniel said, told him he had received such word over the telephone.

Daniel said Davenport declared he had been told by "Captain Skipwith" that the men would have to get away.

Captain J. K. Skipwith, of Bastrop, is the exalted cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan organization in Morehouse parish.

Daniel named the men ordered to leave as "Whipple Campbell and their two bodyguards."

Daniel was not questioned as to who was meant by the "bodyguards."

Daniel also testified at one time he had found unsigned, typewritten notices at his gate, ordering him to "change up."

Dr. F. J. Willey, a Mer Rouge physician, testified as to treating W. C. Andrews on the night of August 24.

"He looked like he had been severely whipped. I asked no questions. Andrews had several severe bruises on his back, but there were no lacerations."

Andrews was one of the men flogged by what was described as a "black hooded" band at the time Daniel and Richards were whipped.

Norscworth said Skipwith was the king of this community and this parish. His word was final.

"What was the result of all this raiding. Wasn't the parish being controlled by super-government?"

"It caused all kinds of trouble. The people were all torn up. It wasn't what we called invisible government, but it sure was a change in government."

"As a matter of fact Captain Skipworth told us that if the grand jury, which was in session, failed to bring about indictments, we would, meaning the Klan. After I got out of the Klan they sent me, with a bunch of men, to the Arkansas line. I had orders to flog these men and tell them to cross the line and stay across."

"They did not know you had quit them."

"I reckon not."

As to the inner workings of the Klan the witness claimed that he was made a captain by Skipworth and Dr. McKoin was likewise honored, but that "Dr. McKoin was my assistant."

"Why did you quit the Klan. Was it because they wore black masks?"

"Yes, but I did not like any part of it."

"How about the committees?"

"You mean the vigilantes?"

"Yes."

"O, They went around in the country and scouted up stuff and reported to us what was going on."

"Weren't men ordered to leave?"

CHECKS AND WEIGHTS.

A startling example of how representative bodies of men will differ—on the same kind of a proposition, is seen in the action of Congress, on the one hand, limiting the length of time to be allowed England to repay her war debts to twenty-five years; while on the other hand the Southern Commercial Congress lately proposed to the Secretary of the Treasury, that Germany be allowed 66 years to pay her war indemnity, and that for five years from the present she be not required to pay a cent on her war debt. Because there is such a wide difference in the recommendations of the two important bodies, means either a lack of thorough knowledge of the situation, or else a display favoritism.

MR. BONAR LAW SPEAKS.

In his first concrete expression on the reparations situation Prime Minister Law perceives a "real danger that differences in the public opinion of the countries will be so strong as to make it difficult, if not impossible, to reach an agreement." In the United States we find that public opinion is a strong factor in our government, but that it operates somewhat slowly to accomplish its desires. In England, France and Italy, however, public opinion operates much more promptly and directly, both in the overthrow of ministries and in the actual transformation of the partisan complexion of government itself. We have our elections at stated intervals. European nations may have them at any time. Nevertheless, it is probable that even in England public opinion has had little to do with the foreign policy and with the attitude on reparations. The fear of public opinion has been potent. Likewise in France, if there had been prompt decision and aggressive action, public opinion would have followed rather than led the policy regarding Germany and the reparations.

Either Mr. Bonar Law is not so cautious in his utterance as Mr. Lloyd George, or else he actually stands a step nearer France than his predecessor. For example, while desiring to mediate as between the French and the German position, he says: "Having fixed reasonable conditions, if Germany does not then take necessary steps forthwith to carry them out, the necessary steps must be taken to force her to comply." Aside from the actual terms of the conditions, this view is not different from the French view, France, however, believes that the terms of the Versailles treaty should be enforced as a preliminary to further agreements. On this point the British statesman is silent.

As to the alleged desire of the British to protect Germany's financial, industrial and commercial status in order that they may profit thereby, Mr.

Law says: "It is my belief that from purely a selfish viewpoint if an earthquake were to come along and swallow Germany up, we would gain, not lose, since Germany is our trade rival." If this is to be taken at its face value the French must revise their estimate of the British stand for leniency towards Germany. It appears that the best policy now is to agree on the amount of the reparations and then put to the test the British premier's promise to enforce collections.—Age-Ferald.

D. D. McGee: "I look for the Chamber to join us heart and sentiment until we can present a solid united front to the whole world. I look for it to obliterate all sectional lines."

Hon. E. W. Godbey, who for years refused to become a member of either of the separate civic bodies of the two cities joined the united Chamber. He said: "I regard the present Chamber of Commerce proposition as the most significant movement since the establishment of New Decatur. The two towns actually as much parts of one single physical and business community as a man's two feet are parts himself; no matter how much rivalry is staged by a few individual members of the community."

"The inter community body should be inspired by the inter-community spirit; and this spirit is opposed by any disposition to locate important institutions with relation to imaginary line of cleavage."

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLD AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment is a Brisk Purgative with Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old-style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calotabs on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size. adv.

"Dutch Concert."

A Dutch concert is a social entertainment in which every man sings his own song at the same time that his neighbor is singing his, or in which each person present sings in turn one verse of any song he pleases, some well-known songs being used as a burden after each verse.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanné Price

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—What would you expect a boy of eight to steal for his own Christmas present, if Santa forgot him and he threw scruples to the wind and went out to get a gift for himself. A drum, a gun, a ball bat, or maybe something warm to wear if he needed that? Not at all, in the case of Jimmy Lahme. A detective became curious when he saw Jimmy's fingers more or less ablaze with nine "diamond" rings while the boy looked hungrily into a restaurant window. With questioning he elicited the information that, having no Christmas presents whatever, Jimmy had raided a five and ten cent store counter for the jewels which he proudly displayed.

Nothing casts a rosier and more celebratory glow over the holiday season than prospects of growing prosperity. I search the papers every day for those immediately after looking to see who has killed her husband most recently. The organization of a new Wall Street firm is always one of the most telling of the prosperity signals. So business men—and women—got some holiday spirit out of the announcement of a new big company, Bernard, Schiffer and Company, to do general banking business and deal in foreign and domestic securities, down at 14 Wall Street. It will be one of the most important in the financial district owing to the fact that several of its members have been in business there for years. Those forming the new company are Edgar Baruc, Norman K. Torge, Abraham Bernard, Edgar Bernard, J. W. Schiffer and Arthur Rosenthal. Of these, Edgar Baruc, Arthur J. Rosenthal and Abraham Bernard were formerly members of the firm of Bernard, Scholle and Company, founded eleven years ago and are known as one of the most successful foreign security houses on the Street.

The latest pet to be carried about in Manhattan is a hedgehog. To be sure it is a Mongolian hedgehog, but with the interesting name of Tsaga Nor, but it is an unexpected pet, nevertheless. Tsaga Nor, the first of his kind to be imported to America, is the possession of Mrs. J. B. Shackelford, who has just arrived from an Asiatic expedition with her husband, who was in charge of the photography of the trip for the American Museum of Natural History. Mr. Shackelford is the first of five scientists to return after extensive explorations in the great desert of Gobi. But his wife prizes the tiny hedgehog more than the wonderful photographs.

It's just no use. If you come from Ohio, you must look so honest that no one will believe even a confessed crime of you. Frank H. Ross tried in vain for thirty hours to convince New York police that he was a fugitive and was wanted in Cleveland for embezzlement. They smiled at his story, gave him a good dinner and found him a comfortable rooming house. Then the Cleveland police telephoned and asked them to look for him. His embezzlement story was true. It's an encouraging incident for the rest of us who were born and reared in that well reputed state.

The age of feminism thrusts itself more and more upon our notice. An ad in a New York morning paper the other day read: My husband, Jacob L. Weiner, having left my bed and board, I hereby notify the public that I will not be responsible for his debts. (Signed) Clara Wiener.

There is a real plot, as well as real music in "Glory," the new musical comedy, which opened at the Vanderbilt Theater the other night. It belongs to the gingham dress type of performance, with a truly human appeal.

PRINCESS THEATER—TODAY

Seena Owen and Lowell Sherman in the Paramount Pictures

pearing chorus frocked in good-looking small town summer frocks, and there is good rural comedy, as well as irony, running through it. Patti Harrold, of "Irene" fame, sings and plays the role of "Glory" and puts into it all of that revelling spontaneity which won her our affection in the other production. Incidentally, she is prettier than she ever was before. Walter Regan, the wealthy hero from the city, won our hearts because he is the first musical comedy hero I ever saw who was a plain human being.

Close to Broadway and 207th street is the spot where Hendrik Hudson landed on his voyage of discovery in the Half Moon, back in 1609. A giant tulip tree marks the place, which until the last few years was considered way out in the country so far as Manhattan was concerned, but is now within a stone's throw of huge apartment houses.

Respectable in spite of himself! That is the story of a man who for several years was as reprehensible a promoter as one often hears of. He would start a restaurant and by allowing it to be run in such a way as to violate as many angles of the law as possible, would make it seem tremendously prosperous for a short time. During that time he would sell out. Of course those who bought would discover that they either had to cut out the profits he showed them on the books or land in jail eventually for run about anti-gambling laws and various others. But in the meantime, the promoter would be starting another restaurant in another part of the city. One day, he started one down in West Thirties. But something went amiss as soon as he was started. It began to pay on a legitimate basis! So prosperous was it, indeed, that the promoter couldn't bear to sell out and so had to keep decent enough to go on in business at the same old stand. In a few years he was one of our city's respected, substantial business men in the restaurant business.

There was a time when this country expected any titled foreigner taking up his abode in our midst to be either a cast off remittance man or a seeker for fortune via matrimony. That day is past. Some of our most earnest young men would prove to have reputable title stuck away out of sight if one should look into their affairs. But royal princes in our ranks of trade are still among the novelties. There is Prince Miguel le Briganza, however, grandson of King Miguel of Portugal and the eldest son of the pretender to the throne, who is hard at work on lower Broadway selling life insurance. The Prince, whose marriage to Anita Stewart in 1909 was a brilliant affair, reports punctually at work every morning and keeps as regulation hours as any other insurance salesman in the company for which he works. To his associates he is known as "Prince" and his reports on his work are signed simply "M. de Braganza."

Some hard-working jester cared enough about having a little joke on Patrolman David Winthrop to go to considerable expense about it. Winthrop was patrolling his West Twenty-eighth street beat the other night when he came upon a most elaborate basket tied with ribbons. When he discovered that a pink silk spread covered it and saw a soft-tapering form beneath it, he was sure he had come upon another tragedy of the streets—an abandoned baby. He lifted the silk coverlet and gazed tenderly into the basket. There lying on its side on a pink silk sheet with its head comfortably resting on a pink silk pillow was—a little pig!

"Why not?" the Jesse Lynch Williams play which the Equity Players have chosen for their third production, is described as a "comedy of conventions." By "conventions" is meant marriage. The play is something of a sequel to the author's "Why Marry?" of a few seasons ago. It has to do with two couples who achieved a completely satisfactory arrangement by changing partners via the divorce courts. The only marring element was the dislike of each father and each mother to being separated from the children. The curtain descends upon the two rearranged couples accepting the plan of the younger generation that they all live under one roof so that the mixed parents may be close to their children. The play is far more cleverly entertaining than all this sounds and its satire is keen and effective. Tom Powers and Mary Mower do particularly good work.

It is surprising that the very air of our avenues is not heavy with fragrance when one ponders on the amount of perfume there must be made and sold in the world. A French manufacturer of perfumes has just taken a lease for an American headquarters here in New York, for which he is to pay one round million of dollars each year. I should say, too, that it is surprising that we have any money left to spend on steak and potatoes.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

It's usually a sign of sick kidneys, especially if the kidney action is disordered, passages scanty or too frequent. Don't wait for more serious troubles. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Albany man's testimony.

W. C. Wilson, carutenter, 603 Commercial St., says: "Heavy lifting put my kidneys in a weakened condition. My kidneys didn't act right and the secretions scalded in passage and were highly colored. There was a lameness through my back and I couldn't get up when I was down. When I stooped, such sharp pains took me in my back, I almost sank to my knees. There was a heavy dull ache through the small of my back, which made me restless at night and I couldn't sleep. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I used them. Doan's cured me of all the trouble and I am well and strong now and I suffer no more from kidney complaints."

Budding Romance Nipped.

I was eight and he was ten. We attended the same school and our two grades were in the same room. When 4 o'clock came his grade rose and marched out of the room first. When he reached the door he would turn toward me slightly and I would wink at him. One evening the teacher caught me winking, and kept me after school. You can imagine that put a quick stop to that budding romance.—Chicago Journal.

First Users of Cigarettes?

The cigarette was popular in Spain in the latter part of the eighteenth century. The cigarette was invented in the Spanish West Indies at least as far back as 1750, and in his "Travels in Spain," published in 1775, Richard Twiss refers to the many Spaniards who "smoke tobacco shired line and wrap up in a piece of paper."

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT.

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influences of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. adv.

NEWS OF MOULTON AND LAWRENCE COUNTY

MOULTON, Ala., Jan. 9.—Special—Herman Hughes and Ralph McClusky, each held in the Lawrence county jail for the past several months on charges of murder were taken to the Limestone county prison at Athens Saturday for better guarding. On Friday night they made an almost successful effort to saw out of prison presumably with saws given them by friends from the outside of the jail. This was their second attempt, the first being less than two months ago since which time they have been watched as carefully as possible by Sheriff Masterson and his forces.

McClusky has already had a life time sentence pronounced on him, but is awaiting the results of an appeal; he is but a youth and is charged with killing a young man, Owens in the east part of the county. Hughes has not yet had his trial as just before it was to take place in December he had a fall from his bunk in the jail that for a time hindered his being able to go to the court room, he is charged with slaying a girl last summer because she would not marry him.

One of the younger sons of J. R. Bates, deputy sheriff and also marshal of the town of Moulton had a serious accident last week when he struck a match to a small piece of dynamite that exploded and tore off two or three fingers of the boy; medical attention had to be given Sunday night and Monday morning to the hand.

Thos. Lathan, aged 73, of near Landersville, seven miles west of Moulton, was found dead in his bed early Sunday morning, heart failure is supposed to have been the cause of his death. For many years he had been making his home with his children in and around Landersville.

John Randolph, of near Hatton, northwest of Moulton died Sunday from the effects of an attack of influenza and complications, he was a well known citizen of that section of
